ALL MEMBERS OF FORCE RETAINED BY COUNCIL

Albright Again Elected Chief, With Higgins First And McEldowney, Second Officer—Attorney Schuyler Selected Solicitor—Other Officials of Borough Chosen at Meeting.

MANY COMPLAINTS WERE HEARD LAST NIGHT

There was slight change in the police department at the annual election of officers by the borough council last night. C. W. Albright, who for the past three years, has been the chief of Police was the only applicant for that position, and was therefore elected, the clerk casting the ballot. In the election of the second officers is where the slight change occurred. There were several out for both places, but the old men, John Higgins and George McEldowney were regained. Higgins who has been the second offier was made the first and McEldowney who has been the first officer was made the second. This changes the time of their patrol, Higgins going on in the afternoon and McEldowney in the evening. For first officer Higgins received 6 votes, and for second one, McEldowney received 4 votes for second officer and one for first. Benjamin Zimmers and Alva Osborne each received a vote for first officer.

There were three applicants for the position of solicitor, they being Hugh B. Fergus, D. M. McCloskey and George L. Schuyler. The latter was elected by a vote of 4 to McCloskey's three. Mr. McCloskey will however finish out the work in which he is now engaged, that of the fight against the Charleroi Water company.

R. H. Rush, the cashier of the First National Bank, was elected treasurer. Last year's incumbent was T. R. Eagye of the Charleroi bank.

For street commissoner there was but one name in as an applicant, that of Jacob Hormell the present incumbent, and he was declared elected, the clerk casting the ballot. There were four for driver, Walter Lewis, and John Hains, the present men, Carey Guseman and Alex. Thompson, Sr. The former were elected.

Bernard S. Smallwood was elected by unanimous vote over a Pittsburg firm of engineers for the position of borough engineer. J. W. Cordes was chosen borough electrician.

C. J. Moe, representing the C. J. Moe Electrical company was present from Pittsburg asking that a permit be granted his company for the putting up or hanging lights over the sidewalk. The matter was carefully considered, and on motion of Frye and Lynn, the Mr. Moe was given power to put up one of his lights for a test under the supervision of the fire, water and light committee. Following this a motion was put through to the effect that the ordinance committee draft an ordinance that would allow hanging signs to be placed by the merchants of the town.

There were several complaints last night. One was in from 310 Crest avenue where it was stated that wash water thrown over the hillside had caused an unhealthful condition. The complainant was James Wilson. Mrs. Dorbitz was present asking for quick action in the matter of a sewer for Prospect Alley. Her property suffers from the lack of such. A complaint was in from 207 Shady avenue a resident of that neghborhood wanting a sidewalk laid at that place. This matter had been discussed previously and had been left in the hands of the street committee, who will take some action at an early date. It was reported that walks were needed between 11th and 12th on Meadow avenue, and a motion was carried to have the property owners notified to put them down.

Mr. Frye had a proposition to offer that the auditing of the borough be done at an earlier time than it is at present to make things more systematic. It was received rather favorably by the council, but no action was taken on the matter.

YOUNG FELLOWS ARE FINED FOR STONING TRAIN

Taken to Justice's Office and There Sentence is Imposed

PARENTS ARE WARNED

Five boys residing at Shire Oaks aged between 11 and 16 years, were given a hearing before Alderman Elwood at Monongahela yesterday. They were charged with having on March 6th, thrown stones at a passenger train, breaking three windows. Railroad detectives have been at work on the case and yesterday arrested Luke Keegan, Robert Young, Samuel Marella, Joseph Barrett and Roland Nelson.

At a hearing it was proven that the latter lad knew nothing of the offense and he was discharged. The other four boys through an agreement paid three dollars each for the windows broken and paid the costs. After a severe reprimand by Alderman Elwood the four lads were allowed to go home. The parents also received a severe lecture and were told that should the affair occur again the case would not be compromised. James P. Moore, of Monongahela was a passenger on the train on the evening the affair occurred and one of the misles barely missed striking him in the face.

SETTLEMENT OF LOCAL CASE

Does Not Come to Hearing—Was Listed for Yesterday Afternoon

The first case listed for trial at Washington yesterday afternoon in common pleas court was that of the Walton Lumber company versus Charles W. Speakman. The case was not brought to trial however, it being settled before hand. Judgment was directed to be entered in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendent for $172.60.

Foreigner Gets All Mussed Up

Wants to Plead Guilty to Charge and Officers Won't Let Him

Joseph Artum had signed a paper entering a plea of guilty yesterday at Washington to felonious entry and larceny, but as the defendant did not understand English and probably did not know just what he was doing, was sent back to jail. Judge McIlvaire remarked that under the plea he could sentence Artum to seven years in the penitentiary, and that he would better know what he was doing before he decided to plead guilty. He was committed by R. L. Ellwood, of Monongahela, and was charged with having entered a boiler house of the Star Coal company and carried away brass fixtures to considerable value.

The trial list for this week, the last week of common pleas court, has dwindled considerably by reason of the continuance of several cases and the settlement of others.

LITTLE CHILD IS HORRIBLY SCALDED WITH SCRUB WATER

Playing in Kitchen and Sits Down in Pail Containing Steaming Fluid

WAS BUT 3 YEARS OLD

Yesterday Elmer Eckert, Jr., the son of Elmer Eckert, the proprietor of the Eckert Hotel at Courtney was badly scalded about the back and hips, by sitting down in a pail of hot water which one of the girls employed at the hotel had sat down on the floor for a moment.

The child is three years of age. The girl had got some scalding hot water for scrubbing purposes, and having another duty to attend to for a moment sat the pail on the floor. The child which happened to be in the kitchen, walked over, and immediately sat down in the steaming water. He screamed and the girl pulled him out of the pail, and called aid. Dr. Wall of Monongahela was called and dressed the injuries. The child is in a bad condition, but will recover. It suffered terribly from the burns.

Pittsburg Coal Co. Beat the Allens

Robert F. and Theodore J. Allen have lost their suit in Westmoreland county, against the Pittsburg Coal Co. for royalties amounting to nearly $30,000 alleged to be due them from the taking out of thousands of tons of coal near Belle Vernon, which they had leased with a royalty cause.

The action were brought to recover balances which they claimed were due them on royalties on a coal lease on 100 acres of coal in Rostraver township, Westmoreland county, and Washington township, Fayette county, from June, 1899, to January, 1908. This lease was made in 1892 and afterwards assigned to the defendant company by the Pennsylvania Mining Co. assignees of the original lessee.

SMITH IN TROUBLE FROM NOTE FOR $500

The property of Councilman John Smith, of Monongahela, the man who gained fame by bringing suit against the councilmanic body of that city recently, has been seized at the instance of creditors, on a note of $500. It so happened that the deputy sheriff reached the property just a moment ahead of the constable of Monongahela, who was racing with him to get there first. There are other creditors that demand satisfying, it is said.

SISTERS OWNED LAND MARK OF OLDEN DAYS

The wills of the two Greenfield sisters, late of Beallsville, were filed for probate yesterday. The one sister, Miss Louisa Greenfield, died back in 1900, and the other, Miss Eleanor Greenfield, died last February. Of the ten children in the family just two now survive, Colonel Greenfield and Eli Greenfield. The old Greenfield hotel at Beallsville is one of the land marks of stage coach days of the National pike.

The wills of the sisters were written on the same date, March 5, 1883. Both read identically the same, except that one provides for the other sister, in case of the death of the one or the other. The one surviving received the property of the other.

Both now being dead the property of the two, which was in possession of Eleanor Greenfield, now under the will of both, goes to Eli Greenfield.

Non-suit in Case For Commission

Claim of $1,200 Made by Agent for Sale of Property

In the first case called, in court yesterday, Horatio S. Moore against the Monongahela Manufacturing company, counsel for the plaintiff announced that he would take a nonsuit and the case was so marked. The plaintiff claimed $1,252.50 alleged due as commissions on sale made for the defendant company. The defense alleged a setoff of $5,355.22 against the plaintiff. In the affidavit of defense they set forth that they, upon the information of the plaintiff that he was competent to do the work and perfectly understood what was required, appointed him to superintend and oversee the construction of a large coal washery for the Semans, the coal operators. They aver that he did the work in such an unskilled manner that the defendant company were up to considerable damage and additional expense. Therefore they claim the setoff to plaintiff's claim for commissions.

Coroner is Investigating

The name of the man who was killed by the train at Bamford yesterday has not been learned as yet, and the coroner, James Heffran is today investigating. The body is still at the undertaking rooms of I. O. Wycoff on Fallowfield avenue. It is that of a foreigner, but evidently one in good circumstances. It appears that he ran into the train which travels at a high rate at this point. The side of the car it is said came into contact with his head, and thus caused the wounds about the head, and broke the neck. An inquest will be held later.

GOOD EVENING.

One foolish act may undo a man and a timely one may make his fortune.—Irish Proverb.

In Hot Water.

Belle Vernon is into trouble over her sewer, and yet may get into more hot water. It seems that the town unwittingly and unknowingly put extensions to sewers before it had any permit or could lawfully be done, and becoming aware of the fact that they acted unwisely face a queer problem. What will be done is a question, but it is evident something will have to be done.

State Health Commissioner Samuel C. Dixon has written the borough council about the matter, and gave notice to the effect that something should be done but the council has taken no action as yet. When they will is not known but likely at some not far distant period.

Number Diminishing.

Unemployed growing less is a headline cheerfully announces. That is indeed good news to read. It is pleasing to note that almost all effects of the financial disturbances of last year have passed away and that business has nearly assumed its normal conditions. But there are still some companies that have not yet come up to their standard, and when they do then we can afford to indeed rejoice.

The panic wasmet of such extent that everyone suffered great deprivations [illegible], and are just now getting caught up again, while some are still out of employment. But as the headline reads, the unemployed is stedily decreasing in number owing to the confidence that it manifested in the reign of Mr. Taft.

The Police Force.

The "new" police force will meet with universal satisfaction. The men are well known and what they have done in the past has been for the best interests of the town. The slight change is one that has been mentioned heretofore, and will be we think for the better. In the not far distant future it is most likely that a new man will be placed on the force, to patrol the hill district. This would only make the force more efficient. The local police as well as others have enemies, but they have been good officers, and deserved election.

Electric Sparks.

A great railway man says, "The people have the money and the people must ride on the railways." This sounds almost like a threat.

Great Britain's trade is falling off; but what can you expect of a people who won't heat their houses in winter because grandfather didn't?

It is said of Theodore Roosevelt that "he made enemies." Of course he did. The man who doesn't make enemies is generally a useless chump.

German inventors are making guns for the destruction of dirgibis war balloons, which also will be armed. The man behind the gun factory profits both coming and going.

Perhaps the most potent influence for peace both at Vienna and at Belgrade and not less in Berlin, will be that of the bankers who would have to finance an European war.

The country, like Mr. Taft, wants the right sort of revision, the sort which was promised in the platform, and which he advocated during the campaign. But business can adjust itself to any kind of revision after it is actually on the statute book.

Some marriages are difficult to explain, but this difficulty doesn't apply to that of a couple married at Hagerstown yesterday. The groom did his courting while he was in an insane asylum.

May as well order a workhouse special for the grocerymen. Stuart's signed a bill penalizing the sale of ancient eggs.

Vermont is on the point of enacting a law which makes the giving of false news to a newspaper punishable by a fine of from $5 to $20 for each offense. It is not generally known there is such a law in effect in Pennsylvania and that it provides imprisonments as well as a fine.

The fool who discards his winter underwear at this stage of the game had better keep his life insurance paid up.

Letter to J. B. Cunningham.

Charleroi, Pa

Dear Sir: Here is a story that tells the fact as truly as if it were true.

At the time when President Lincoln was shot, in 1865, a man had three houses alike, in like condition, and situated alike. He meant to find-out, by experiment, which of three paints would prove most profitable.

He painted the first house lead-and-oil, the second Devoe, the third another good paint; and, afterwards, painted each house when required, for thirty years, with the paint he painted it with at first.

He got 25 gallons of each for the job; had 1 gallon less on the first house, and 1 on the second; but had to get 7 gallons more for the third. He was surprised at the difference; he had expected one paint to go as far as another.

The costs of the several paints by the gallon were not far apart; lead-and-oil $1.60; Devoe $1.75; the other paint $1.50; and the cost of all three was the same for labor, $3 a gallon.

Lead and oil he has painted once in [illegible] years, Devoe once in six, and the other paint once in five years.

Any school boy can reckon the costs for those three houses for thirty years, that's a business man's lifetime.

Lead-and oil	$110 00
Devoe	[illegible]5.75
Other paint	861.00

And the story is just as good as if it were actual history. Paint is so profitable that even dear paint is cheap, but half the using weak paints, supposed to be cheap, but is dear.

Strong paint is cheap; weak paint is dear; the least-gallons paint is the most economical paint; Devoe.

Yours truly

The Lady Was Not the Ghost.

An Irish family got the ghost so troublesome that they sent for detectives. One of these men late at night fell asleep in his chair. The lady of the house ch[illegible] to come into the room and could not resist the temptation to groan and rattle her keys. She had never played ghost before. It was momentary indiscretion. But the policeman did not and could hardly be expected to believe this. He said it was hardly worth while to bring him from Dublin, and he withdrew in dudgeon. Yet the lady was not really the ghost. He was sulking in retirement, hence doubt has been cast on the ghosts of haunted houses even among reflecting minds.—London News.

A Curious Story.

The queen of Hanover, wife of King Ernest Augustus of Hanover (better known as the Duke of Cumberland, son of George III.) died at Hanover about 1842 of an illness which baffled the skill of her doctors as to its real cause. During her illness a clairvoyant was consulted, who wrote certain curious signs and words on the door of her bedroom; but, although these mystic words were repeated over and over again, the queen died. The king of Hanover after his wife's death gave orders that her bedroom should always be kept as though the queen would sleep there at night. The bed was turned down, the pillows reshaken, hot water brought and the daintiest slippers laid in readiness for her.—Home Notes

VINOL CURES CHRONIC COUGHS, COLDS AND BRONCHITIS

After Other Remedies Fail

"I have been troubled with a chronic cold and bronchitis for a long time and have tried many remedies without finding relief. Through the kind suggestion of a friend I tried Vinol, and after taking four bottles, am entirely cured." A. H. Wilde, 733-8th Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

S. McDonald, 147 W. Congress St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I contracted a severe cold last winter and thought I would never get rid of it. I tried Vinol as a last resort, and it has completely cured me."

Vinol combines two world-famed tonics, the healing, medicinal properties of cod liver oil and tonic iron, deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach. For this reason, Vinol is unexcelled as a strength-builder for old people, delicate children, weak and run-down persons, after sickness and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

A SUNDAY STROLL.

This Recreation Was at One Time Unlawful In Maine.

Something of the exact behavior demanded from young people by those in authority in the early days of the nineteenth century is brought to notice in the biography of Peter Edes, a pioneer printer in Maine. Mr. Edes had an apprentice, James Orrock, who enjoyed a walk on Sunday after a week of indoor employment.

Mr. Edes soon found out that this was not permitted at Bangor and wrote to a friend of the trouble caused him by his apprentice's apparently innocent amusement.

"You must know," he writes, "that the people are very strict on this day and will not let men walk out, much less boys. James was strolling about and was ordered home by the tything men, but he would not obey them. A complaint was lodged against me on the next day, and I should have been obliged to pay a fine had not Judge Dutton pleaded in my behalf that I did not approve of such conduct and so got clear."

Another interesting incident in connection with life in Bangor at this time is an advertisement which appeared in Mr. Edes' paper, the B[illegible] Weekly Register, stating that "L. & M. R. Edes have opened a school in the room over the Register office for the instruction of young misses and small children in the useful and ornamental branches of education."

The terms were: "Orthography and plain work, 17 cents per week; writing, English grammar, geography with the use of maps, composition, ornamental needlework, 25 cents per week." This was probably one of the first schools in Maine for teaching young ladies exclusively in the branches of education and also including plain work and fancy needlework.

CAN YOU SPELL?

Test Your Ability by Writing This Jumble From Dictation.

It is some time ago since spelling bees were popular forms of entertainment in this country, but still one occasionally comes across the very superior person who tells you he can easily spell any word ever printed in a dictionary. If ever you meet this type of man, just ask somebody to dictate the following jumble to him and see how many mistakes he will make:

"Antinous, a disappointed, desiccated physicist, was peeling potatoes in an embarrassing and harassing way. His idiosyncrasy and privilege was to eat mayonnaise and mussels while staring at the Pleiades and seizing people's tricycles and velocipedes. He was an erring teetotaler and had been on a picayune jamboree. He rode a palfrey stallion and carried a salable papier mache bouquet of asters, phlox, mullein, chrysanthemums, rhododendrons, fuchsias and nasturtiums.

"He wore a sibyl's resplendent turquoise paraphernalia, an ormolu yashmak and astrakhan chaparejos. He drank crystallizable and disagreeable curacao juleps through a sieve. He stole some moneys and hid them under a peddler's mahogany bedstead and mattress.

"Like a fiend in an ecstasy of gayety I rushed after him into the maelstrom, or melee, and held him as in a vise. I could not feaze him, however, and he addressed me with asperity in the following [illegible] words, which sounded like a soliloquy or a superficial [illegible] about 'You are a rattle brained innamoth, a salaaming virier, an epitome [illegible] daguerreotype.'"—New York Mail

Civil Service In England and America.

The difference between the civil service examination in England and in America is important and to the advantage of the English. In the United States the object is almost entirely to discover the immediate fitness of the candidates for the work they are expected to do. In England the object in most cases is to measure what their ability to do the work will be after they have learned it.—From "The Government of England," by A. Lawrence Lowell.

Bliss.

"What sort of time do you expect to have during the social season?"

"Fine," answered Mr. Cumrox. "Mother and the girls will be so busy thinking about their clothes that they won't have time to notice my grammar."—Washington Star.

ETIQUETTE.

An Old Fashioned Man Frees His Mind About Its Absurdities.

"Whether to eat fish with a fish knife and fork or a fork and a bit of bread, whether to serve champagne in a tumbler or a goblet—it is quite absurd to regard one of these courses as right and the other as wrong and to admire or despise a person accordingly. The average rule of etiquette has nothing to do with courtesy, with good breeding, and it is no criterion of courtesy or of good breeding."

The speaker, an old fashioned gentleman from the country, knotted the ends of his napkin more firmly about his neck.

"Smile at me, nephews and nieces," he resumed, "because I tuck my napkin under my chin. Yet why should I spoil my black broadcloth coat with turkey stains or smears of cranberry sauce? It is a rule of etiquette, you say, that the napkin may only be placed across the knee—an absurd, ephemeral rule!

"It was a rule of etiquette in France during the reign of 'Le Roi Soleil,' the great Louis XIV., that when the king visited a sick subject the king, too, must lie down in a bed, on the ground that it would never do for a subject to maintain a more informal attitude than his master during the audience Louis XIV, visiting the Marshal de Villars after Malplaquet, lay in a bed beside the suffering soldier in that way

"Behold the absurdities of etiquette and let me do with my napkin what I please."—New Orleans Times Democrat

THE FOREIGN LEGION.

A Peculiar Body of Fighters in the French Army.

The French foreign legion is a heterogeneous organization. It is composed of disappointed men of every country—political refugees, military fugitives. In fact, all varieties of the world's restless citizens go to make up this wonderful modern machine. "No questions asked" might well be the regimental motto. Each man signing his bond of service sells his soul for five years at the wage of 1 sou (about 1 cent) per day.

The officers are French, but the men hail from everywhere and nowhere. Under various names the French legion has existed since the eighteenth century and was finally constituted as at present in 1830. It consists of twelve battalions divided into two regiments, possessing a total strength of 12,000 men. Eight thousand are kept in the far east, the remainder serving in northern Africa. In the early days the regiments were divided into "national sections," men from the same country being kept together.

This resulted, however, in continual racial disputes, and each company consequently was given a cosmopolitan composition. Since its formation the officials have guarded closely against desertions, and as the legion only serves in French colonial territory where the centers are remote and transportation is difficult a successful desertion is a rare feat.—Chicago News.

THE SHIPWRECKER.

His Life Made Up of Hardships, Adventures and Accidents.

The career of the shipwrecker consists of a series of hardships and adventures and accidents and narrow escapes from the first day he enlists with a big wrecking company up to the time he is brought ashore from the grim ship he calls "home" crippled or fatally injured. Of all the professions that demand heavy toll of human life none, not even mining or powder making, is as dangerous as the one of these wreckers. Every year these daring men, who brave storm and wave and tempest to save the stranded liner, to raise the sunken ocean greyhound, to rescue the ship impaled upon rocks and, if nothing else, to salve what valuable cargo may be removed from helpless wrecks, meet death by the score. Many of them, exposed often for days and nights to the icy blasts of winter seas, to driving blizzards and to drenching storms that bite to the marrow, succumb to pneumonia. Others at work on the pitching, tossing barges have legs or arms shattered during the risky operations of removing masts or of slinging wrecking pumps or other castings that weigh tons. Others have hands or feet so dreadfully frozen that these must be amputated, and still others are wiped out of existence after suffering hours of untold agony and exposure before the eyes of their helpless comrades.—Appleton's Magazine.

HICCOUGHS.

A Simple Treatment by Which They May Be Cured.

Did you ever take nine swallows of water to cure the hiccoughs? Do you remember the time some one scared the hiccoughs away by telling you of a whipping due for some meanness?

Well, science has been studying hiccoughs and caught the hiccoughs by the "nape of the neck." The nine swallows of water had a little science in it, and so did the scare cure. The scientific hiccough cure consists in pressing down to numbness the nerve that connects the stomach, heart, lungs and brain, the pneumogastric nerve. The pressure partially and locally paralyzes this nerve and of necessity the hiccoughing must cease.

Have the hiccoughing patient sit down and be at ease, with the muscles of the neck relaxed as much as possible Grasp both sides of the neck somewhat toward the back part and press down steadily and as hard as the subject may permit for about one minute, having the patient work the head from side to side. Within about one minute the nerve will be numbed and rested, and the spasmodic motion will cease It may require longer pressure in some cases, but the result is sure if patience is maintained.—Ohio State Journal.

ECZEMA LODGES IN THE SKIN

Not a Blood Disease -Cured by Oil of Wintergreen Compound

For many years eczema was supposed to be a blood disease and was erroneously treated as such, but now the best authorities agree that eczema is only a skin disease and must be cured through the skin. The eminent skin specialist Dr. D. D. Dennis, first discovered the eczema germ and his discovery was quickly taken up in Germany and France.

To kill the eczema germ and at the same time heal the skin Dr. Dennis compounded oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc. The remedy is a liquid, not a mere salve, hence it sinks right into the pores of the skin. Washing with this oil of wintergreen compound seems to take away the itch at once; soon the scales drop away and the disease disappears. The prescription has now been used so long as to have proven its absolute merit and we do not hesitate to express our confidence in D. D. D. Prescription as used with D. D. D. Soap.

ALL MEMBERS OF FORCE RETAINED BY COUNCIL

Albright Again Elected Chief, With Higgins First And McEldowney, Second Officer—Attorney Schuyler Selected Solicitor—Other Officials of Borough Chosen at Meeting.

MANY COMPLAINTS WERE HEARD LAST NIGHT

There was slight change in the police department at the annual election of officers by the borough council last night. C. W. Albright, who for the past three years, has been the chief of Police was the only applicant for that position, and was therefore elected, the clerk casting the ballot. In the election of the second officers is where the slight change occurred. There were several out for both places, but the two men, John Higgins and George McEldowney were retained. Higgins who has been the second officer was made the first and McEldowney who has been the first officer was made the second. This changes the time of their patrol, Higgins going on in the afternoon and McEldowney in the evening. For first officer Higgins received 6 votes, and for second one. McEldowney received 4 votes for second officer and one for first. Benjamin Zimmers and Alva Osborne each received a vote for first officer.

C. W. ALBRIGHT,

There were three applicants for the position of solicitor, they being Hugh B. Fergus, D. M. McCloskey and George I. Schuyler. The latter was elected by a vote of 4 to McCloskey's three. Mr. McCloskey will however finish out the work in which he is now engaged, that of the fight against the Charleroi Water company.

R. H. Rush, the cashier of the First National Bank, was elected treasurer. Last year's incumbent was I. S. Mayse of the Charleroi bank.

For street commissoner there was but one name in as an applicant, that of Jacob Hormell the present incumbent, and he was declared elected, the clerk casting the ballot. There were four for driver, Walter Lewis, and John Hairs the present men, Carey Guseman and Alex. Thompson, Sr. The former were elected.

Bernard S. Smallwood was elected by unanimous vote over a Pittsburg firm of engineers for the position of borough engineer. J. W. Cordes was chosen borough electrician.

C. J. Moe, representing the C. J. Moe Electrical company was present from Pittsburg asking that a permit be granted his company for the putting up or hanging lights over the sidewalk. The matter was carefully considered, and on motion of Frye and Lynn, the Mr. Moe was given power to put up one of his lights for a test under the supervision of the fire, water and light committee. Following this a motion was put through to the effect that the ordinance committee draft an ordinance that would allow hanging signs to be placed by the merchants of the town.

There were several complaints last night. One was in from Elm Crest avenue where it was stated that wash water thrown over the hillside had caused an unhealthful condition. The complainant was James Wilson. Mrs. Dorbitz was present asking for quick action in the matter of a sewer for Prospect Alley. Her property suffers from the lack of such. A complaint was in from 207 Shady avenue a resident of that neghborhood wanting a sidewalk laid at that place. This matter had been discussed previously and had been left in the hands of the street committee, who will take some action at an early date. It was reported that walks were needed between 11th and 12th on Meadow avenue, and a motion was carried to have the property owners notified to put them down.

Mr. Frye had a proposition to offer that the auditing of the borough be done at an earlier time than it is at present to make things more systematic. It was received rather favorably by the council, but no action was taken on the matter.

The closing burletta is called "Ain't It Awful Mabel" and is quoted as being even more a rousing than the opening piece, a number of high class vaudeville acts will be introduced.

YOUNG FELLOWS ARE FINED FOR STONING TRAIN

Taken to Justice's Office and There Sentence is Imposed

PARENTS ARE WARNED

Five boys residing at Shire Oaks aged between 14 and 16 years, were given a hearing before Alderman Elwood at Monongahela yesterday. They were charged with having on March 6th, thrown stones at a passenger train, breaking three windows. Railroad detectives have been at work on the case and yesterday arrested Luke Keegan, Robert Young, Samuel Marella, Joseph Barrett and Roland Nelson.

At a hearing it was proven that the latter lad knew nothing of the offense and he was discharged. The other four boys through an agreement paid three dollars each for the windows broken and paid the costs. After a severe reprimand by Alderman Elwood the four lads were allowed to go home. The parents also received a severe lecture and were told that should the affair occur again the case would not be compromised. James P. Moore, of Monongahela was a passenger on the train on the evening the affair occurred and one of the missles barely missed striking him in the face.

SETTLEMENT OF LOCAL CASE

Does Not Come to Hearing—Was Listed for Yesterday Afternoon

The first case listed for trial at Washington yesterday afternoon in common pleas court was that of the Walton Lumber company versus Charles W. Speakman. The case was not brought to trial however, it being settled before hand. Judgment was directed to be entered in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendent for $172.60.

Foreigner Gets All Mussed Up

Wants to Plead Guilty to Charge and Officers Won't Let Him

Joseph Artom had signed a paper entering a plea of guilty yesterday at Washington to felonious entry and larceny, but as the defendant did not understand English and probably did not know just what he was doing, was sent back to jail. Judge McIlvaine remarked that under the plea he could sentence Artum to seven years in the penitentiary, and that he would better know what he was doing before he decided to plead guilty. He was committed by R. L. Ellwood, of Monongahela, and was charged with having entered a boiler house of the Star Coal company and carried away brass fixtures to considerable value.

The trial list for this week, the last week of common pleas court, has dwindled considerably by reason of the continuance of several cases and the settlement of others.

CAR LOAD OF OIL IS BURNED ON RAILROAD

Spectacular Fire Which Will Cost Company About $900.

WORK TRAIN IS CALLED

McDonnald, Pa., March 16. A large car, half filled with oil, was destroyed by fire near Primrose station on the P. C. C. and St. L. divison of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday afternoon.

The tank car is the one used for supplying the different stations along the railroad with oil. It caught fire in some unknown manner about 1 o'clock in the afternoon while the train to which it was attached, was standing on the freight track.

A wreck crew was called from Carnegie and the burning car was thrown from the track. It was completely consumed, the loss being about $900.

LITTLE CHILD IS HORRIBLY SCALDED WITH SCRUB WATER

Playing in Kitchen and Sits Down in Pail Containing Steaming Fluid

WAS BUT 3 YEARS OLD

Yesterday Elmer Eckert, Jr., the son of Elmer Eckert, the proprietor of the Eckert Hotel at Courtney was badly scalded about the back and hips, by sitting down in a pail of hot water which one of the girls employed at the hotel had sat down on the floor for a moment.

The child is three years of age. The girl had got some scalding hot water for scrubbing purposes, and having another duty to attend to for a moment sat the pail on the floor. The child which happened to be in the kitchen, walked over, and immediately sat down in the steaming water. He screamed and the girl pulled him out of the pail, and called aid. Dr. Wall of Monongahela was called and dressed the injuries. The child is in a bad condition, but will recover. It suffered terribly from the burns.

Pittsburg Coal Co. Beat the Allens

Robert F. and Theodore J. Allen have lost their suit in Westmoreland county, against the Pittsburg Coal Co. for royalties amounting to nearly $80,000 alleged to be due them from the taking out of thousands of tons of coal near Belle Vernon, which they had leased with a royalty cause.

The action were brought to recover balances which they claimed were due them on royalties on a coal lease on 100 acres of coal in Rostraver township, Westmoreland county, and Washington township, Fayette county, from June, 1899, to January, 1908. This lease was made in 1892 and afterwards assigned to the defendant company by the Pennsylvania Mining Co. assignees of the original lessee.

SMITH IN TROUBLE FROM NOTE FOR $500

The property of Councilman John Smith, of Monongahela, the man who gained fame by bringing suit against the councilmanic body of that city recently, has been seized at the instance of creditors, on a note of $500. It so happened that the deputy sheriff reached the property just a moment ahead of the constable of Monongahela, who was racing with him to get there first. There are other creditors that demand satisfying, it is said.

SISTERS OWNED LAND MARK OF OLDEN DAYS

The wills of the two Greenfield sisters, late of Beallsville, were filed for probate yesterday. The one sister, Miss Louisa Greenfield, died back in 1900, and the other, Miss Eleanor Greenfield, died last February. Of the ten children in the family just two now survive, Colonel Greenfield and Eli Greenfield. The old Greenfield hotel at Beallsville is one of the land marks of stage coach days of the National pike.

The wills of the sisters were written on the same date, March 5, 1883. Both read identically the same, except that one provides for the other sister, in case of the death of the one or the other. The one surviving received the property of the other.

Both now being dead the property of the two, which was in possession of Eleanor Greenfield, now under the will of both, goes to Eli Greenfield.

Non-suit in Case For Commission

Claim of $1,200 Made by Agent for Sale of Property

In the first case called, in court yesterday, Horatio S. Moore against the Monongahela Manufacturing company, counsel for the plaintiff announced that he would take a nonsuit and the case was so marked. The plaintiff claimed $1,252.50 alleged due as commissions or sale made for the defendant company. The defense alleged a setoff of $5,355.22 against the plaintiff. In the affidavit of defense they set forth that they, upon the information of the plaintiff that he was competent to do the work and perfectly understood what was required, appointed him to superintend and oversee the construction of a large coal washery for the Semans, the coal operators. They aver that he did the work in such an unskilled manner that the defendant company were up to considerable damage and additional expense. Therefore they claim the setoff to plaintiff's claim for commissions.

Coroner is Investigating

The name of the man who was killed by the train at Bamford yesterday has not been learned as yet, and the coroner, James Heffran is today investigating. The body is still at the undertaking rooms of I. O. Wycoff on Fallowfield avenue. It is that of a foreigner, but evidently one in good circumstances. It appears that he ran into the train which travels at a high rate at this point. The sides of the car it is said came into contact with his head, and thus caused the wounds about the head, and broke the neck. An inquest will be held later.

GOOD EVENING.

One foolish act may undo a man and a timely one may make his fortune.—Irish Proverb.

In Hot Water.

Belle Vernon is into trouble over her sewer, and yet may get into more hot water. It seems that the town unwittingly and unknowingly put extensions to sewers before it had any permit or could lawfully be done, and becoming aware of the fact that they acted unwisely face a queer problem. What will be done is a question, but it is evident something will have to be done.

State Health Commissioner Samuel C. Dixon has written the borough council about the matter, and gave notice to the effect that something should be done but the council has taken no action as yet. When they will is not known but likely at some not far distant period.

Number Diminishing.

"Unemployed growing less," a headline cheerfully announces. That is indeed good news to read. It is pleasing to note that almost all effects of the financial disturbances of last year have passed away and that business has nearly assumed its normal conditions. But there are still some companies that have not yet come up to their standard, and when they do then we can afford to indeed rejoice.

The panic was not of such extent that everyone suffered great deprivations, but some did, and are just now getting caught up again, while some are still out of employment. But as the headline reads, the unemployed is steadily decreasing in number owing to the confidence that it manifested in the reign of Mr. Taft.

The Police Force.

The "new" police force will meet with universal satisfaction. The men are well known and what they have done in the past has been for the best interests of the town. The slight change is one that has been mentioned heretofore, and will be we think for the better. In the not far distant future it is most likely that a new man will be placed on the force, to patrol the hill district. This would only make the force more efficient. The local police as well as others have enemies, but they have been good officers, and deserved election.

Electric Sparks.

A great railway man says, "The people have the money and the people must ride on the railways." This sounds almost like a threat.

Great Britain's trade is falling off; but what can you expect of a people who won't heat their houses in winter because grandfather didn't?

It is said of Theodore Roosevelt that "he made enemies." Of course he did. The man who doesn't make enemies is generally a useless chump.

German inventors are making guns for the destruction of dirgible war balloons, which also will be armed. The man behind the gun factory profits both coming and going.

Perhaps the most potent influence for peace both at Vienna and at Belgrade and not less in Berlin, will be that of the bankers who would have to finance an European war.

The country, like Mr. Taft, wants the right sort of revision, the sort which was promised in the platform, and which he advocated during the campaign. But business can adjust itself to any kind of revision after it is actually on the statute book.

Some marriages are difficult to explain, but this difficulty doesn't apply to that of a couple married at Hagerstown yesterday. The groom did his courting while he was in an insane asylum.

May as well order a workhouse special for the grocerymen. Stuart's signed a bill penalizing the sale of ancient eggs.

Vermont is on the point of enacting a law which makes the giving of false news to a newspaper punishable by a fine of from $5 to $20 for each offense. It is not generally known there is such a law in effect in Pennsylvania and that it provides imprisonments as well as a fine.

The fool who discards his winter underwear at this stage of the game had better keep his life insurance paid up.

Letter to J. B. Cunningham.

Charleroi, Pa.

Dear Sir: Here is a story that tells the fact as truly as if it were true.

At the time when President Lincoln was shot, in 1865, a man had three houses alike, in like condition, and situated alike. He meant to find out, by experiment, which of three paints would prove most profitable.

He painted the first house lead-and-oil, the second Devoe, the third another good paint; and, afterwards, painted each house when required, for thirty years, with the paint he painted it with at first.

He got 25 gallons of each for the job; had 1 gallon less on the first house, and 4 on the second; but had to get 7 gallons more for the third. He was surprised at the difference; he had expected one paint to go as far as another.

The costs of the several paints by the gallon were not far apart: lead-and-oil $1.60; Devoe $1.75; the other paint $1.50; and the cost of all three was the same for labor, $3 a gallon.

Lead-and-oil he has painted once in three years, Devoe once in six, and the other paint once in five years.

Any school boy can reckon his costs for those three houses for thirty years; that's a business man's lifetime.

Lead-and-oil	$1104.00
Devoe	498.75
Other paint	864.00

And the story is just as good as if it were actual history. Paint is so profitable that even dear paint is cheap; but half the using weak paints, supposed to be cheap, but is dear.

Strong paint is cheap; weak paint is dear; the least-gallons paint is the most economical paint; Devoe.

Yours truly
F W DEVOE and CO

The Lady Was Not the Ghost.

An Irish family once had a ghost so troublesome that they sent for detectives. One of these men late at night [illegible] The lady of the house chanced to come into the room and could not resist the temptation to groan and rattle her keys. She had never played ghost before. It was momentary indiscretion. But the policeman did not and could hardly be expected to believe this. He said it was hardly worth while to bring him from Dublin, and he withdrew in dudgeon. Yet the lady was not really the ghost. He was sulking in retirement; hence doubt has been cast on the ghosts of haunted houses even among reflecting minds.—London News.

A Curious Story.

The queen of Hanover, wife of King Ernest Augustus of Hanover (better known as the Duke of Cumberland, son of George III.) died at Hanover about 1842 of an illness which baffled the skill of her doctors as to its real cause. During her illness a clairvoyant was consulted, who wrote certain curious signs and words on the door of her bedroom; but, although these mystic words were repeated over and over again, the queen died. The king of Hanover after his wife's death gave orders that her bedroom should always be kept as though the queen would sleep there at night. The bed was turned down, the pillows reshaken, hot water brought and the daintiest slippers laid in readiness for her.—Home Notes.

VINOL CURES CHRONIC COUGHS, COLDS AND BRONCHITIS

After Other Remedies Fail

"I have been troubled with a chronic cold and bronchitis for a long time and have tried many remedies without finding relief. Through the kind suggestion of a friend I tried Vinol, and after taking four bottles, am entirely cured." A. H. Wilde, 733-5th Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

S. McDonald, 147 W. Congress St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I contracted a severe cold last winter and thought I would never get rid of it. I tried Vinol as a last resort, and it has completely cured me."

Vinol combines two world-famed tonics, the healing, medicinal properties of cod liver oil and tonic iron, deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach. For this reason, Vinol is unexcelled as a strength-builder for old people, delicate children, weak and run-down persons, after sickness and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

A SUNDAY STROLL.

This Recreation Was at One Time Unlawful in Maine.

Something of the exact behavior demanded from young people by those in authority in the early days of the nineteenth century is brought to notice in the biography of Peter Edes, a pioneer printer in Maine. Mr. Edes had an apprentice, [illegible] with a walk on Sunday after a week of indoor employment.

Mr. Edes soon found out that this was not permitted at Bangor and wrote to a friend of the trouble caused him by his apprentice's apparently innocent amusement.

"You must know," he writes, "that the people are very strict on this day and will not let men walk out, much less boys. James was strolling about and was ordered home by the tything men, but he would not obey them. A complaint was lodged against me on the next day, and I should have been obliged to pay a fine had not Judge Dutton pleaded in my behalf that I did not approve of such conduct and so got clear."

Another interesting incident in connection with life in Bangor at this time is an advertisement which appeared in Mr. Edes' paper, the [illegible] Weekly Register, stating that "A. & M. R. Edes have opened a school in the room over the Register office for the instruction of young misses and small children in the useful and ornamental branches of education."

The terms were: "Orthography and plain work, 17 cents per week; writing, English grammar, geography with the use of maps, composition, ornamental needlework, 25 cents per week." This was probably one of the first schools in Maine for teaching young ladies exclusively in the branches of education and also including plain work and fancy needlework.

CAN YOU SPELL?

Test Your Ability by Writing This Jumble From Dictation.

It is some time ago since spelling bees were popular forms of entertainment in this country, but still one occasionally comes across the very superior person who tells you he can easily spell any word ever printed in a dictionary. If ever you meet this type of man, just ask somebody to dictate the following jumble to him and see how many mistakes he will make:

"Antinous, a disappointed, disheveled physicist, was peeling potatoes in an embarrassing and harassing way. His idiosyncrasy and privilege was to eat mayonnaise and mussels while staring at the Pleiades and seizing people's triceps and velocipedes. He was an erring teetotaler and had been on a pleasure jamboree. He rode a palfrey stallion and carried a salable papier mache bouquet of asters, phlox, mullein, chrysanthemums, rhododendrons, fuchsias and nasturtiums.

"He wore a sibyl's resplendent turquoise paraphernalia, an ermoin yashmak and astrakhan chaparejos. He drank crystallizable and disagreeable curacao juleps through a siere. He stole some moneys and hid them under a peddler's mahogany bedstead and mattress.

"Like a fiend in an ecstasy of gayety I rushed after him into the maelstrom, or melee, and held him as in a vise. I could not feaze him, however, and he addressed me, with aplomb, in the following imbecile words, which sounded like a soliloquy or a superadding paean on an object: 'You are a rutable lunamoth, a salaaming vizier, an equinoctial cornpiece and an [illegible] daguerreotype.'"—New York Mail.

Civil Service in England and America.

The difference between the civil service examination in England and in America is important and to the advantage of the English. In the United States the object is almost entirely to discover the immediate fitness of the candidates for the work they are expected to do. In England the object in most cases is to measure what their ability to do the work will be after they have learned it.—From "The Government of England," by A. Lawrence Lowell.

Bliss.

"What sort of time do you expect to have during the social season?"

"Fine," answered Mr. Cumrox. "Mother and the girls will be so busy thinking about their clothes that they won't have time to notice my grammar."—Washington Star.

ETIQUETTE.

An Old Fashioned Man Frees His Mind About Its Absurdities.

"Whether to eat fish with a fish knife and fork or a fork and a bit of bread, whether to serve champagne in a tumbler or a goblet—it is quite absurd to regard one of these courses as right and the other as wrong and to admire or despise a person accordingly. The average rule of etiquette has nothing to do with courtesy, with good breeding, and it is no criterion of courtesy or of good breeding."

The speaker, an old fashioned gentleman from the country, knotted the ends of his napkin more firmly about is neck.

"Smile at me, nephews and nieces," he resumed, "because I tuck my napkin under my chin. Yet why should I spoil my black broadcloth coat with turkey stains or smears of cranberry sauce? It is a rule of etiquette, you say, that the napkin may only be placed across the knee—an absurd, ephemeral rule!

"It was a rule of etiquette in France during the reign of 'Le Roi Soleil,' the great Louis XIV., that when the king visited a sick subject the king, too, must lie down in a bed, on the ground that it would never do for a subject to maintain a more informal attitude than his master during the audience. Louis XIV., visiting the Marshal de Villars after Malplaquet, lay in a bed beside the suffering soldier in that way.

"Behold the absurdities of etiquette and let me do with my napkin what I please."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE FOREIGN LEGION.

A Peculiar Body of Fighters in the French Army.

The French foreign legion is a heterogeneous organization. It is composed of disappointed men of every country—political refugees, military fugitives. In fact, all varieties of the world's restless citizens go to make up this wonderful mongrel fighting machine. "No questions asked" might well be the regimental motto. Each man signing his bond of service sells his soul for five years at the wage of 1 sou (about 1 cent) per day.

The officers are French, but the men hail from everywhere and nowhere. Under various names the French legion has existed since the eighteenth century and was finally constituted as at present in 1830. It consists of twelve battalions divided into two regiments, mustering a total strength of 12,000 men. Eight thousand are kept in the far east, the remainder serving in northern Africa. In the early days the regiments were divided into "national sections," men from the same country being kept together.

This resulted, however, in continual racial disputes, and each company consequently has gotten a cosmopolitan composition. Since its formation the officials have guarded closely against desertions, and as the legion only serves in French colonial territory where the centers are remote and transportation is difficult a successful desertion is a rare feat.—Chicago News.

THE SHIPWRECKER.

His Life Made Up of Hardships, Adventures and Accidents.

The career of the shipwrecker consists of a series of hardships and adventures and accidents and narrow escapes from the first day he enlists with a big wrecking company up to the time he is brought ashore from the grim ship he calls "home" crippled or fatally injured. Of all the professions that demand heavy toll of human life none, not even mining or powder making, is as dangerous as the one of these wreckers. Every year these daring men, who brave storm and wave and tempest to save the stranded liner, to raise the sunken ocean greyhound, to rescue the ship impaled upon rocks and, if nothing else, to salve what valuable cargo may be removed from helpless wrecks, meet death by the score. Many of them, exposed often for days and nights to the icy blasts of winter seas, to driving blizzards and to drenching storms that bite to the marrow, succumb to pneumonia. Others at work on the pitching, tossing barges have legs or arms shattered during the risky operations of removing masts or of slinging wrecking pumps or other castings that [illegible] feet so dreadfully frozen that these must be amputated, and still others are wiped out of existence after suffering hours of untold agony and exposure before the eyes of their helpless comrades.—Appleton's Magazine.

HICCOUGHS.

A Simple Treatment by Which They May Be Cured.

Did you ever take nine swallows of water to cure the hiccoughs? Do you remember the time some one scared the hiccoughs away by telling you of a whipping due for some meanness?

Well, science has been studying hiccoughs and caught the hiccoughs by the "nape of the neck." The nine swallows of water had a little science in it, and so did the scare cure. The scientific hiccough cure consists in pressing down to numbness the nerve that connects the stomach, heart, lungs and brain, the pneumogastric nerve. The pressure partially and locally paralyzes this nerve and of necessity the hiccoughing must cease.

Have the hiccoughing patient sit down and be at ease, with the muscles of the neck relaxed as much as possible. Grasp both sides of the neck somewhat toward the back part and press down steadily and as hard as the subject may permit for about one minute, having the patient work the head from side to side. Within about one minute the nerve will be numbed and rested, and the spasmodic motion will cease. It may require longer pressure in some cases, but the result is sure if patience is maintained.—Ohio State Journal.

ECZEMA LODGES IN THE SKIN

For many years eczema was supposed to be a blood disease and was erroneously treated as such, but now the best authorities agree that eczema is only a skin disease and must be cured through the skin. The eminent skin specialist Dr. D. D. Dennis, first discovered the eczema germ and his discovery was quickly taken up in Germany and France.

To kill the eczema germ and at the same time heal the skin, Dr. Dennis compounded oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc. The remedy is a liquid, not a mere salve, hence it sinks right into the pores of the skin. Washing with this oil of wintergreen compound seems to take away the itch at once; soon the scales drop away and the disease disappears. The prescription has now been used so long as to have proven its absolute merit and we do not hesitate to express our confidence in D. D. D. Prescription as used with D. D. D. Soap.
